H. D. CLUB MEETS
The Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. Ed. Bell Sunday afternoon. There were twenty members and one visitor present. The subject was "Dress Fit."

FAIR TRADE
A magician performing in a Northern town put a woman into a box from which there was no apparent outlet, and shut the lid. When he opened it again there was nothing inside but a couple of rabbits.

After the performance a Scotsman went to the magician and asked him if he could perform the same trick if it was the Scotsman's wife who was to go into the box. "Why yes," answered the magician, "but are you anxious to get rid of your wife?"

"Well," answered the Scot, "it's not as much that, but wee Willie got me the promise him two rabbits for his birthday!"

The Height
Then there was the actor who so conceited that he cut his name out of his marriage license and pasted it in his scrapbook.

A man on the Bob Hawk show said he wished he had enough money to marry on.

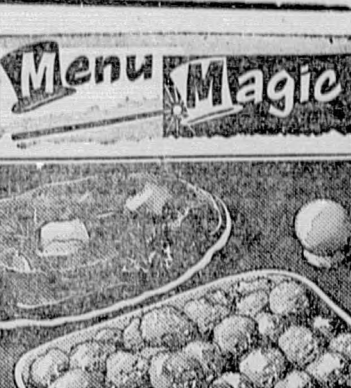

"Then what would you do?" asked Hawk.
"I'd travel," the fellow replied.

Menu Magic
Most homemakers rarely have a day of meal planning that does not include potatoes on the menu in some form because heavy, masculine appetites demand them. Your menfolk—and other members of the family, as well—will welcome potatoes served in this tasty new fashion.

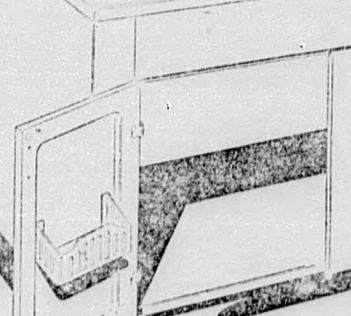

BROILED NEW POTATOES
15 medium-size or 30 tiny new potatoes
1 cup melted margarine
1 cup shredded cheese
1 cup bread crumbs
Cook potatoes in their jackets. While still hot, peel and roll in melted margarine, not in cheese, and finally in bread crumbs. Arrange in a well-margined shallow baking dish or pan. Place under broiler and broil until lightly browned on one side, about five minutes. Turn and finish broiling, about five minutes. This will yield six servings.

For other nutritious, taste-testing recipes write today to National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 76, Memphis, for your free copy of the new 24-page, two-color recipe booklet, "Menu Magic with Margarine."

PASSING OF A DEAR ONE
Leaves a wake of sorrow and uncertainty. We understand this, and so are better able to ease your burden in the handling of all funeral details. Our many years have taught us to serve with dignity, efficiency and complete reverence. Call on us when the need arises.
